Economy Fight Nearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The issue of standby wage and price controls shows signs of igniting a congressional furor over President Nixon's domestic policies.

"I think Congress should consider standby controls," House Democratic Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma said in an inter-

Although he stopped short of an outright endorsement of controls, Albert clearly backs the effort of Democratic members of the Banking Committee to write standby control authority for the President into pending legislation.

Nixon wants no wage-price control legislation, even on a standby basis, as he made abundantly clear in his economic speech Wednesday. Democrats have criticized that speech as lacking in effective new initiatives against continuing inflation and the slump in employ-

The drive for standby wage and price controls is building at a time Nixon seeks to raise the national debt ceiling by $18 billion and government statisticians reported another fourtenths of one per cent living cost increase during May.

Labor leaders and businessmen appeared divided over the wage and price control issue following the President's economic message. Some want more control, while others want none.

Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy also said Thursday there was "some likelihood" that Nixon would ask Congress for tax increases next year.

Democratic insistence on bringing the wage-price control matter to a House vote could harden party positions on the whole issue of the administration's economic policy—an issue some congressmen are saying will overshadow the Indochina war by the November elections.

Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., and other Democratic members of the Banking Com-mittee want to write standby controls over prices and wages into pending legislation to extend the Defense Production Act, and they say their chances are good.

The senior Republican committee member, Rep. William B. Widnall of New Jersey, challenged this estimate.

'I don't think they have the votes," he said in an interview. adding that Republican members would be solid against the provision.

The issue could still be raised on the floor, though proponents would not have the tactical advantage of a committee endorsement of the provision.

June Rainfall Is Living Up To Old Saying

There's an old saying that if it rains on the first day of June, it will rain 20 days in the month.

It did, and it looks like it will. N. U. Renshaw, official U.S. weather observer here. reported Friday that 5.52 inches of rain have fallen so far this month. Twelve of the 19 days of June have seen rain.

While this June has been a wet one so far, it will have a way to go to top last June's performance, when 13.45 inches of rainfall were measured, believed to be a record for the

Heath Wins British Vote

LONDON (AP) — It became official today: Edward Heath has ousted overconfident Harold Wilson from the prime ministry. winning a mandate to run the British government for a term that can last five years.

'We put forward the right policies, and we stick to them," Heath told his followers. "We have convinced people they were the right policies and that we are going to give them a better government tomorrow.'

The 53-year-old bachelor leader of the Conservative party was jubilant that he had defied the odds and confounded the forecasts.

From the start of counting in Thursday's election it was evident that the Tories had made a comeback, but it was not until early this afternoon that they clinched a majority in the House of Commons. At that time they passed into the majority with 316 seats in the 630-seat House.

Later the Tory total went to

The final tabulation was hours away, but there were predictions Heath would have a majority of 23 or more seats. Wilson's majority was 65 in the last House.

Enemy Nearing Capital

PHNOM PENH (AP) - A powerful North Vietnamese-Viet Cong force attacked a provincial capital 80 miles north of Phnom Penh today and pushed to within 200 yards of major government strong points, the Cambodian high command said.

Moving behind a mortar barrage, the Communists struck Kompong Thom just after midnight. The Cambodian air force sent fighter-bombers into action at dawn. Latest reports said fighting was continuing and that the attackers were getting rein-

Kompong Thom, on the road between Phnom Penh and the Angkor region in northwestern Cambodia, has been under almost constant enemy pressure for more than a month.

Cambodian spokesmen say Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces have occupied most of Angkor, the site of the 12th century temple ruins that are Cambodia's greatest national treasure. There has been speculation that the Communists might try to set up a revolutionary capital in the ancient

There was no word on casualties in the fighting at Kompong Thom, but the Cambodian high command claimed today that its forces have killed more than 6,000 Communist troops in the Cambodian three-month-old war. In addition, more than 11,000 enemy troops have been reported killed by the U.S. and South Vietnamese forces operating in Cambodia's eastern provinces.

But enemy pressure on the country as a whole has never been greater. The high command said that in view of the worsening situation, Premier Lon Nol's government has asked the United States for helicopters and a wide range of other military equipment.

Enemy forces, by blocking roads and railroads, have almost isolated the Cambodian capital. By today, only one provincial capital could be reached from Phnom Penh on what was officially called a safe road.

Cambodia's railroad link to Thailand remained closed today as government troops swept along the track trying to clear out enemy forces. Highway 1 between Phnom

Surfing Champion Pays Visit Inland

By CATHY BINDERUP Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

A former women's world surfing champion, Margo Godfrey, has left the realms of the waves to visit this Midwest town miles away from any surfer's dream.

Margo, 16, daughter of Mrs. Marjorie Johns Godfrey, is visiting Cyrus Johns, her grandfather, Dr. and Mrs. John E. Lamy, her aunt and uncle, and Mrs. C. E. Messerley.

A surfer since 10, Margo began hitting the waves six years ago when she lived in a beach home at LaWhale, Calif. She began practicing and learning the techniques of surfing with the recklessness of the young. Her early start proved an important factor in reaching the fame she enjoys

"Surfing," says Margo, "is an art, not so much a sport. It changes with your moods. A person never surfs the same way. There is no set form. You don't really practice, with the intent of improving, you just do it because you enjoy it.

Sometimes before a contest Margo will surf six hours in a day, but the day before is spent in leisurely enjoyment of a wave for one or two hours.

"It's hard to judge a contest," she explained. "So many different things are involved, and of course every surfer has his own style, hits a different type of wave, and does his own thing. Judges look for the distance traveled on the wave, speed, number of turns, or how close to the white part of the wave

Urges Israeli Aid

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Israel is fighting the battle of the free people of the world and the United States must do all it can to support and assist the Middle Eastern nation. Republican Congressional candidate John W. Peters said Thursday night.

Peters. who is seeking his party's nomination for 2nd District congressman, told the Creve Coeur Republican Club the increasing Russian involvement on the side of the Arab nations makes action by the United States "more urgent than ever.'

He said this country should supply Israel with whatever weapons and equipment are needed to maintain a military balanace.

Agnew Blasts Probing Into Domicile of Church

NEW YORK (AP) - When Vice President Spiro T. Agnew criticized the National Council of Churches a few weeks ago, he was tangling with an old issue in religious life and inferentially knocking the position of his own denomination.

He also set off some ecclesiastical sparks.

Agnew is an Episcopalian, and the Episcopal Church along with most other major Protestant and Orthodox denominations - is an active participant in the National Council, a cooperative body of Christian churches.

The vice president "slurred his own church," as well as 32 other denominations and their Sunday schools, commented the Rev. Dr. David Hunter, the council's deputy general secretary, and an Episcopalian, Agnew, in criticizing the Lutheran Pastor Ron Beckman council's concern with such matters as environmental pollution, also was challenging view shared by major churches, Protestant and Catholic that religious commitment demands efforts for wholesomeness in all spheres of life, both social and personal.

'More and more, Christians have come to recognize that concern for social justice, for peace and human dignity is part of the Gospel message and goes along with concern for the individual," said the Rev. Dr. Ralph M. Holdeman, the council's evangelism director.

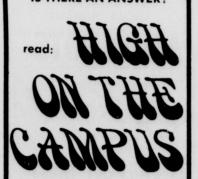

Complaints still are common that the churches should stay out of social issues. A Roman Catholic theologian, the Rev. Gregory Baum, commenting on the vice president's remarks in the St. Louis Review, a diocesan weekly, says the "Catholic Church today in her official teaching agrees with the National Council of Churches (and the World Council) on the social and political commitment implicit in faith.' He says it "is impossible to follow the Lord Jesus Christ and shrug one's shoulders" at "social evils which we suffer and for which we are, in part, re-

Dr. Hunter said of the vice president's differentiation between pollution and evil: "An Episcopalian ought to be able to discern evil better than that, and a vice president should recognize a national priority when he sees one.

Inflation Is Hurting Networks

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - The economic squeeze that is shrinking the family's pocketbook is also hitting the television networks. They are reacting the way the average citizen does: looking for places to economize.

Television's austerity budgets probably will not be noticeable until fall. if then, but the 1970-71 season promises to be difficult. Cigarette advertising which totals as much as $250 million a year will disappear after New Year's Day. There are hopes of attracting new sponsors to fill the void, but other corporations also are watching their budgets. CBS is on an especially vigorous economy effort. Omitted from next season's schedule will be the network's expensive but prestigious "CBS Playhouse" series of three or four original dramas: "CBS Children's Playhouse." each of which costs as much as an adult dramatic production, and the long-playing Young People's Concerts.

NBC's "On Stage" series of original dramas has lost its insurance sponsor and unless another happens along, it will be among the missing next fall. All networks think twice about replacements for executives and other personnel. Telephone Advances Are Topic

"Communication in the '70s" was the subject of a talk by Robert Johnson, business manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., before fellow Kiwanians at the club's meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday

The speaker called attention to the fantastic possibilities that lie ahead in the fields of communication as a result of continuing research. Utimately, he said, would come the use of pocket telephones and refined uses of computers in serving man's pressing needs in this

Monty McQuittty was program chairman.

George Cain reported on the "Sing Out Missouri" project to inspire young people to work together, which will bring over 300 youths to the Missouri State Fair in August for program presentations. Cain appealed to Kiwanians to help in housing these visitors in private homes.

Arthur Morgan announced that over $1,000 had been made available by contributions to send the Sedalia Notables to the Kiwanis International convention in Detroit June 21-Morgan and Louis R. Hughes, Jr., are delegates from the local club.

President Herbert Taylor recognized James C. Alexander, Sr., as Kiwanian of the Week in the club bulletin.

Invocation was by Dean Allee. Singing was led by Abe Rosenthal with Mrs. Lillian Maynard as accompanist.

Surfing

surfer stands, Margo explained. After observing everything, the surfer is rated on a 1 to 20-point scale. The one with the most points wins.

Margo works for the Hansen Surf Board Co., which has sponsored her many surfing trips. Recently she returned from a contest in Australia where she placed second in the women's division of the World Championship. A trip three years ago took her to New Zealand, Tahiti and Australia, and she has ridden the waves in Puerto Rico and Mexico as

Among the 50 or more trophies she has won are the U.S. Champion, 1967-1970; World Champion, 1968-70; International Champion, 1968. and East and West Coast Champion, 1970, all in the women's division. Margo has never had a serious injury. When asked what one feels aboard a 12 to 15foot wave, she said, "Don't look down, that's your first feeling. Once you're on the wave you don't think of anything but that wave and how you're going to ride it. My mind goes completely blank, but occasionally I'll look at the birds. After surfing a while the turns become habit and you're going by instinct. A senior next year in high school, Margo counts on self discipline to get her through her classes. She maintains a 3.6 to 4.0 grade average out of a possible 4.0. Last year she attended school from 8 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., which left much time for surfing. With so much activity, Margo still manages a social life. As she pointed out, "There are not many girl surfers so the guys are always around. The surfing contests provide fun and parties, and I enjoy being with lots of people. Her family, a brother, Cyrus, a sister, Emily and her mother, do not engage in surfing to the extent Margo does and she usually makes her expense-paid trips alone.

Although she placed second in the World Championship at Australia this summer, Margo was not displeased. "I'm glad I don't have the title in one sense. because it makes it easier around friends," she said. "People seemed to be uneasy around me when I had the title. They automatically assume I'm conceited, I try not to be. Surfing is a way of relaxing and should not change a person's personality. I'm really happy

When asked about the future, Margo said that she was interested in oceanography and English literature, but that she hoped after high school she could travel throughout the world, getting to know more people and possibly attend school abroad.

Heath

(Continued from Page 1) One factor evidently was that many people stayed home, perhaps misled by the polls into thinking their votes were meaningless. It looked as if just over 70 per cent of the voters had come out. The figure was almost 76 per cent in 1966 elections. The result recalled American elections, in diverse ways. Heath, in effect, pulled off what Harry S. Truman did in 1948 when he defeated Thomas E.

Jaycees Hear Talk On Center

Morris Byrum, chairman of the steering committee for a Sedalia community center, addressed the Thursday night meeting of the Sedalia Jaycees in the Bothwell Hotel.

Byrum, pointing out the need for such a center in Sedalia, said that if enough civic groups could get behind the move and the qualifications could be met. the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development would pay a large percentage of the initial cost.

Among the regular club activities, Vaughn Hart was presented the Outstanding Jaycee of the Month Award for May for his work on the Sedalia Jaycees Memorial Day Weekend Races. Newly elected president Bob

Burke pointed out the need for the organization to seek new means of raising money for locally-sponsored programs, as well as the varied club activities. Co-chairman Joe Bode of the Memorial Day Weekend Races reported that gross receipts from the event had already passed the $20,000 mark. Burke, Adam Fischer and David Curry were elected as voting members to the National Jaycees Convention, which gets underway Sunday in St. Louis and continues through Thursday.

Under the British system the party that wins the most seats in the House of Commons forms the government. Unless beaten on a vote of confidence it can serve five years, but the prime minister is able to step in ahead of time and order an election. Thus Wilson, originally empowered in 1964, called a 1966 election that increased his majority. This time he summoned the voters a year ahead of his time limit, in an effort to assure a total of 10 years' rule for labor.

NEW YORK (AP) — A cu- cause, he believed, business and rious omission from President labor could be restrained by Nixon's strategy against inflation is his reluctance to describe the enemy in terms that would help identify it for his fellow Americans in business and la-

In his address on inflation and economic policy, the President stated

"Now is the time for business at every level to take price actions more consistent with a stable cost of living. Now is the time for labor to structure its wage demands to better achieve a new stability of costs.

But is there a businessman who can say specifically what price action the nation expects of him? And if he does decide to sacrifice his company's profits for a greater good, how does he explain it to the directors?

Is there a union leader who can, in clear conscience, decide to sacrifice a few cents on a wage agreement in order to make his contribution to stability? And if there is, how much should he sacrifice? The President does recognize that such criteria can be developed, for he has advised his Council of Economic Advisers to prepare a periodic inflation alert. Oddly, however, the alert will come after the event.

In other words, the council "will spotlight significant areas of wage and price increases and objectively analyze their impact on the price level." But presumably after the damage has been done.

The inflation alert, therefore, will be unlike smog, tornado, air aid or any other alerts that man has devised to warn of impending danger

For months the President has resisted suggestions that he provide some clear criteria that would permit business and labor leaders to judge, in advance, the inflationary potential of their price and wage demands.

Such a criterion would suggest guidelines, and the President has scorned a guidelines policy as "an attempt to dictate specific prices and wages without authority of law.

But guidelines are not dictates, as President Johnson found out. Johnson made the error of thinking that the government could continue to spend heavily and avoid inflation be-

Crossroads Comment...

We don't know how long it will last but most Central Missourians are already weary and exhausted from the protracted period of high humidity. The latter is defined as a moderate degree of wetness in the atmosphere. Moderate is a mild word for the soggy conditions around here.

This is the season for wasps, hornets. bumblebees and plain bees whose hum hums are signals for humans to take

Coincidentally an insects "hum hum" is unrelated to another kind of "humhum" which is a thin cambric material formerly imported from India. How come this word has never popped up in the crossword puzzles that have been a popular feature of the Democrat-Capital for over 40 years?

Talking about bees with hums and stingers, did you know that they and their buzzin' cousins are more lethal than generally considered?

According to the Institute of Life Insurance, they will kill more people this year than snakes and spiders combined. A recent study indicates more caution than usual should be taken against honeybees. wasps. hornets. yellow jackets and fire ants. Approximately two of every five deaths caused by venomous creatures are the result of stings by these insects.

A missing persons agency has compiled this statistic: For every thousand requests to locate missing husbands. only four requests are received to locate missing wives. Is this a case of fewer wives running away, or do husbands of missing wives care less about them than do wives of missing husbands?

If any member of the Sedalia Rod and Gun club plans to move out of the state permanently, he may be interested in this observation by the Towanda (Kan.) If you move out of the state permanently, and not just on a hunting trip. you cannot transport your guns across state lines in your personal car without being in violation of the gun law. You may. however. consign your guns to a common carrier moving your household goods. But don't transport your personal guns in your personal car across state lines to your new residence. That's a federal no-no.'

Bus Line Overworking Its Drivers

WASHINGTON - Investigators for the Interstate Commerce Commission have caught the Trailways bus line illegally overworking its drivers on more than 8,000 occasions since 1960. Yet the commission has repeatedly refused to act against the company drivers are prohibited from working more than 70 hours a week. Yet even this limit, which would keep bus drivers going at the exhausting pace of 10 hours a day for seven days a week, has been ignored by the company.

For safety's sake, bus

Worse, more than 1,000 of the infractions occurred after the ICC had ordered the bus company to stop

the violations

The case, involving Safeway Trails, Inc., an eastern subsidiary of the vast Trailways system, dates back to 1961 when ICC investigators found that drivers had been compelled to work beyond the 70-hour limit 3,399 times over a two-year

The commission finally got around to issuing a "cease and desist" order in February, 1963. The order was lifted 20 months later after Marvin E. Walsh, a corporate vice president, solemnly swore in an affidavit that the law had been obeyed

No attempt was made, apparently, to determine whether Walsh was telling the truth. Indeed, the staff discovered 1,066 violations during a threemonth period while the compliance order was still

-Bush Backs Off-

The following April, John Bush, then the ICC's vice chairman, ordered an investigation into this apparent flouting of the commission's order. But two months later, without explanation, Bush suddenly ordered the investigation discontinued.

Reached by this column, the commissioner said he couldn't remember the case. A member of his staff, however, explained that Bush decided to stop the probe because the commission staff had informed him that Trailways was making an effort to stop the violation.

Bush's aide read from a private memo from the ICC's bureau of enforcement, which asserted that Trailways was "making a substantial effort" to curb its scofflaw behavior. In other words, the aide acknowledged. Bush decided to call off the investigation not because Trailways had started obeying the law, but because the company was

Since the company started "trying," staff investigators have uncovered more than 3,000 further violations. Most of the evidence is based on the company's own monthly hours-of-service, and the infractions are not seriously disputed by the

The Department of Transportation, which has taken over the ICC's safety investigation functions, has now asked the commission to suspend Trailway's license to operate between Washington and New York for two months.

The request, filed in June of last year, was turned over to a hearing examiner last February. Commission spokesmen don't expect the hearing examiner's decision for several more weeks.

-Ethical Question-

Significantly, Charles Webb, a former ICC commissioner who now works for the bus lobby, filed a belated intervention in the case which raises a serious ethical question.

As a commissioner, Webb took part in the roceedings involving Trailways

The ICC Practicioner's Code states that a retired commissioner should not "accept employment as an advocate or advisor in the same proceeding or as to the same, or substantially the same, facts as were involved in any specific question which he investigated or passed upon ... while in such

Yet this seems to be precisely what Webb has done. Repeated efforts to reach him for comment have brought no response. The brief he filed which the commission accepted although it came in after the deadline for arguments — is shot through with contradictions.

"We express no opinion as to whether the violations alleged in the complaint have been competent evidence," he says at one point.

Then later, the brief "respectfully submits that the complaint should be dismissed on the ground that the violations have not been proved

Nevertheless, there is some hope for Trailways' millions of passengers. Jonathan Rowe, one of Ralph Nader's investigators, has made a detailed inquiry into the case and is expected to follow it up in the next several days with a letter to Commission Chairman George Stafford demanding a public accounting of the issues.

-Lying By Intercutting-

There's some strong language, disputing that the camera doesn't lie, in the still-confidential House report on the CBS-Haiti affair. CBS News spent an alleged $200,000 to film an invasion of Haiti that never got past the Ocean Reef resort on Key Largo, House investigators charge that some of the money not only went to help finance the conspirators but that some of the scenes were staged for the benefit of the television cameras. Then they give the following warning "Again, it is not exactly true that the camera cannot lie. The use of sophisticated editing and intercutting techniques can easily distort the reality which the camera has recorded. If done competently, there is no way in which an average viewer can know that the sequence and duration of what he is watching is not the same as the original event.

Ike Silver Dollar Stymied

According to Reuters News Service, there is every indication the 40 per cent silver Eisenhower dollar will not be produced this year and if Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, has his way it will never go into production.

Although the Joint Commission on Coinage voted 14 to six in favor of a silver Eisenhower coin, Patman refuses to accept the commission's "reconsidered" position, a term used to denote a reversal of a previous decision to issue only silverless coins honoring the late

The Senate passed a bill authorizing the issuance of 150 million 40 per cent silver dollar coins which would require roughly 47 million ounces of silver. Twenty million of these would be in proof finish and 30 million in a regular uncirculated condition for general circulation. The same legislation called for an unlimited number of cupronickel pieces of the same design, realizing that practically all of the silver-content pieces would be automatically retired from circulation as was the 40 per cent Kennedy half-

Some Washington observers say the only way the approved measure can stay alive is for supporters of the dollar to induce House Speaker John W. McCormack to overrule Patman. But these same observers are quick to point out that such action would violate a deep-seated House tradition that the speaker rarely, if ever, overrules the wishes of a committee chairman, especially one who exercises enormous power in the House as does Patman.

So it appears to be a Mexican standoff. If the dollar production is delayed for any period of time this year, it is a cinch it will never be produced next year, at least with a silver content.

WIN AT BRIDGE Aggressive Bid Needs Good Play By Oswaid & James Jacoby

Today this column is turned over to James Jacoby to write about one of his very good friends.

When Dr. Robert Farris, his wife, Charlotte and daughters Judy and Marylin were killed in a plane crash in Austin, Tex., the game of bridge lost one of its most distinguished young players. Bob wasn't a great player. His extensive practice as a neurosurgeon gave him little time for other activities. However, he had won numerous regionals and came close to winning the Spingold Cup in 1960.

My wife and I had visited the Farris home in Austin on many occasions and I had played with Bob frequently. They were a lovely family and everyone who knew them will miss them.

Bob was an aggressive bidder as may be seen from his jump to four spades. Aggressive bidding needs good play to go along with it and Bob was mighty good at handling the dummy. It would have been a cinch for him to go down at this fourspade game. All he had to do would be to win the heart lead. Then, if the defense played two rounds of spades at the first opportunity Bob would have to lose two hearts, one club and the ace of trumps.

Bob saw this trap and avoided it by the simple expedient of letting West hold the first trick. Now it didn't matter what West did. If he played ace and another trump, Bob would be able to set up dummy's diamonds while the ace of hearts remained as an entry.

West did continue hearts. Bob won the second heart in dummy, entered his hand with the ace of clubs, ruffed his last heart with the 10 of trumps and eventually lost a club and the ace of trumps plus the trick lost at the

It's not because the organization is sloppy. unimaginative or money-starved. A visitor gets the strong impression that here are dedicated men. with imaginative new approaches, strong White House backing and adequate funds.

But the profits are so great, the organization so rich. so complex and so security-conscious worldwide and the size of each shipment so small for its value, that today detection of more than a small percentage of smuggled heroin is virtually impossible.

U.S. agents do start out with some data. Estimates are that 80 per cent of the heroin used in the United States is grown as opium in Turkey. It's raised legally. The government buys the opium from the farmers, sells it on the market through legal channels for medicinal purposes.

But the farmers hide out a portion of their crop and do not sell it to the official buyers. They get higher prices from the smugglers. The smugglers may take the opium to Syria. where it is processed into a morphine derivative. This cuts the weight by 90 per cent. From there, the morphine likely will move through Corsican channels to secret laboratories in France. where it is made into heroin

From France. the heroin moves into the world market. Considerable quantities go to New York directly or through Canada or Brazil for reshipment to this country. Here it moves into the distribution channels of a variety of organizations. The important men in this distribution system are not likely to be caught with any opium. morphine or heroin. Underlings do the transporting. The smugglers deal in cash, not checks. They apparently don't keep records or not records that mean anything to law enforcers.

Increasing the number of customs inspectors at U.S. borders and upping the rigidity of inspections is not likely to uncover much. There are too many people to cover. Heroin is too easily hidden. Rigid inspections raise a strong reaction from the public.

As of now, smuggled heroin by and large can be caught and stopped only through tip-offs. This requires a fairly large. extremely efficient international system of government agents with wide contacts among that part of the underworld which deals in the purchase of opium. its conversion into heroin and its transport to the United States.

An intelligence organization of this type takes years to build and even then may be only marginally effective

Tetanus Booster Shots Last 12 to 15 Years By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q-How often should I take a tetanus shot? A-Recent studies have shown that, if a person of any age has his initial three doses of tetanus and diphtheria toxoid and a booster dose one year later. his immunity to tetanus lasts for 12 to 15 years and that taking boosters oftener than every 10 years may cause an allergic reaction. Q-I am allergic to tetanus toxoid. What should I do if I need a tetanus booster in the future? A-In an emergency tetanus immune globulin (human) is an effective means of protection. Tetanus antitoxin is no longer recommended.

Q-I am the mother of four children. What would cause me to pass a few drops of urine whenever I laugh, cough or jump? Can this be cured?

A-This condition, stress incontinence. is common in women who have had several children. It is the result of a relaxation of the pelvic support of the bladder. In most women these supporting muscles can be strengthened by learning to contract them. They are the ones used to check the flow of urine when you have not yet emptied your bladder. You should contract these muscles 20 times before getting out of bed in the morning and 20 more times standing by the bed after arising. This exercise, which can be done while lying. sitting or standing should be repeated several times during the day.

If after eight weeks this has not helped you might consider having a small electronic stimulator implanted under the skin over your bladder. Surgical repair should be done only as a last resort.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate has agreed to start night sessions next week in an effort to resolve the legislative impasse created by the month and a half debate on U.S. policy in Cambodia.

The strategy was conceived by Senate Democrats with a dual purpose: showing good will to the Nixon administration by considering its legislative program and applying pressure for an early vote on proposed restrictions on future U.S. activities in Cambodia.

But an end to the marathon debate still seems unlikely much before the June 30 date set by President Nixon for withdrawing all U.S. forces from Cambodia.

The Senate agreed Thursday to vote Monday on an amendment by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., specifying presidential powers to protect U.S. troops, which appears to command virtually unanimous support.

Earlier Thursday, another agreement was reached to permit evening consideration of bills blocked from floor consideration by the current debate.

The agreement calls for the Senate to drop the military sales bill, vehicle for the current Cambodia debate, and turn to other legislative matters each day at 5 p.m. The night sessions are expected to last four or five

The first measure to be considered will be a catch-all, supplemental appropriations bill that has to be passed by June 30. It is to be followed by a $4.5 billion education money bill that contains three House-passed riders to slow school desegrega-tion. These have previously been rejected by the Senate.

If these can be cleared, the Senate will then consider such measures as the House-approved increase in the legal limit on the national debt-which also must be passed by June 30-and the controversial postal reform measure.

Also as part of the agreement, the Senate will meet two hours ahead of its usual noon starting Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield proposed the revised scheduling to a Democratic caucus Thursday, which backed it unanimously. After some conferences Republican leaders went along.

Debate on Byrd's amendment centered on whether it would authorize President Nixon to repeat the April 30 attack into Cambodia without congressional approval or consultation.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., cosponsor of the Cooper-Church amendment to curb future U.S. actions, said he didn't want to support anything that might give advance approval to renewed attacks into Cambodia.

As long as U.S. troops stay in Cambodia, the President can protect them, Cooper said, adding that under the Cooper-Church proposal "he could not

Last week Virgil W. Kurtz submitted a guest editorial to this editor concerning the forgotten 'softball player.' This week, Archie Hughes has forwarded his solution to this editor about how some of the organizations with which he has worked over the past years, has gotten things done in our recreational facilities

Below is a copy of Mr. Hughes' letter.

ARCHIE HUGHES Broadway Arms Apartments

I am writing in behalf of the Park Board and the men who work for the park. I find they are a great group of men to get along with.

In the 1950's, we had a 22team soft ball league at Housel Park. I was one of the instigators of this league and was player agent and manager of a team. The sponsors and poles bought from REA. furnished the equipment and balls for us. We did have one group in the league that wanted the league to furnish equipment and balls for them. At that time the league hired Mr. John Dirck, paid him to cut grass and keep the diamond in shape. We were glad to do this so we could have a diamond to ourselves to play soft ball.

I have been player agent and president of the Sedalia Little League. They are a great group of boys, mothers, and fathers with which to work. When we needed something in Little League we didn't go to the Park Board and ask them to furnish anything for us While President of Little League, we built the Little League diamond in Centennial Park, bought and paid for fence and load after load of dirt. We didn't sit back and want the park to do something for us, we just went out and got permission to do the work, and all got together and went to work. If we didn't have money to do this, "God bless the managers and coaches," because they dug down in their pockets. and came up with more money

The poles, lights and wire were bought from the Missouri Public Service Company with trucks and equipment donating their time after working hours to light this diamond

A few years ago Mr. Paul Klover was thinking how wonderful it was that we have recreation for small boys. middle-sized boys and big boys, and wondered why someone didn't do something for the girls of our town. So he got a small group of mothers and fathers together and organized the Khoury Girls Soft Ball League. They played on West Second Street, across from Liberty Park. As more and more girls wanted to play softball, Paul had to expand the operation. Where could he go with the girls, with no money? With help from the Superintendent of the Park. Mr. Black and the Park Board, we were given a rough spot of ground in Centennial Park to build a diamond. The first year we played with no lights or fence. Then the Lion's Club furnished lights Missouri Public Service equipment with linemen and men from the gas department to install the lights.

As Khoury Girls Softball League grew, we needed another diamond. Back to the Park Board we went, telling them if we could have more ground we would build another diamond.

We went to Missouri Public Service Company and told them we needed six poles and all the equipment to light another diamond. This was donated to us by them once again. With all equipment, trucks and men working after hours from Missouri Public Service Company, another diamond was set up. The League paid for and built the fence around that diamond

Last year the league needed more ground. The Park Board said we could have it on the same terms as the two other diamonds. The league paid a local contractor to grade off the diamond. There has been a back stop put up and it is in preparations now for a fence which will be donated by the league, or in other words, the

It costs the Khoury Girls Softball League around $40 every night to play. Where does the money come from? The League has a $75 sponsor fee. This pays for balls, bats, masks, protectors and the girls uniforms. The $40 comes from the girls, mothers and fathers, and don't forget the managers and coaches, when buckets are passed around. They will always have their money ready to throw in the

In my experience working in the Little League, Babe Ruth and the Khoury League. I feel sure that if any league goes to the Park Board and Mr. Couts and tells them their troubles that they will work with them one hundred per

Jennie Jaynes To Host Meet

Sedalia will host the AAU Junior Olympic Western Missouri Sub-district Trak and Field Championships, Saturday at Jennie Jaynes Stadium, starting at 9 a.m. The sponsorship of the meet is by S-M Athletic

There were 1,560 boys and girls 17 years and under in five divisions from Missouri who qualified as the top three in 104 events from the AAU Junior Olympic qualifying meets from Carthage, Columbia, Kansas City, Sedalia and St. Joseph. Several of the boys who are participating in the Senior Division also competed in the Missouri State High School Track and Field finals in Columbia.

The first four winners of each event in the Western Missouri Sub-district and Kansas Subdistrict AAU Junior Olympics will qualify for the Missouri Valley District Championship at Haskell Stadium, Lawrence, Kan., on June 27.

The Missouri Valley District will qualify three contestants in each event in the boys and girls intermediate and senior divisions, who will be eligible to participate in the AAU Junior Olympic Region Eight Championship, to be held at the Arkansas State College Stadium (Conway) on July 18.

The regional winners of each event will be eligible to participate in the National AAU Junior Olympic at the University of Tennessee, on Aug. 12. Round trip transportation from the district to Knoxville as well as housing and meals will be provided for the athletes.

According to Paul Klover, track director, he has picked the strongest schools or clubs in each division based on individual's time, distance or height as follows:

Senior boys division—Sedalia could win based on strong contestants in the race-walk events followed by Springfield and Kansas City. Senior girls division - Carthage with Debbie Lewton good enough to go to the nationals, followed by Moberly and Warrensburg. Intermediate boys division -Kansas City with some Central High School track stars, followed by Camdenton and Nevada. Intermediate girls division -Harrisonville has a strong group of girls with Marilyn Carlson good enough to go all the way to the nationals, followed by Warrensburg and Kansas City. Junior boys division -Sedalia has several qualified with good material that could win the Missouri Valley District.

Junior girls division - This one could go anyway among Nevada, Springfield, Warrensburg, Kansas City and St. Joseph.

Midget boys division Nevada with many qualifying, Warrensburg and St. Joseph.

Midget girls division — Tossup among Sedalia, Moberly, Kansas City and St. Joseph. Bantam boys division Sedalia has several winners with good time, followed by Carthage and Kansas City. Bantam girls division — Moberly all the way, Carthage and Kansas City.

POLLY'S POINTERS

They Have Other Uses For Fraved Dress Shirts

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY-My answer is for Mrs. H. B., whose husband has dress shirts that are still good except for worn collars and cuffs. Some ladies' groups remake such shirts for use as gowns for elderly patients in hospitals and nursing homes. When the shirts are washed but not starched, and with the collars and cuffs removed and the edges hemmed, they are much softer for the older people than stiff hospital gowns. Mrs. H. B. could possibly take this on as an individual project or she might belong to a group that would like to do this.—MRS. H. E. C.

DEAR POLLY-Doesn't Mrs. H. B. know that most of the large department stores sell finished collars and sometimes cuffs in the notions department? They come in regular shirt sizes and are ready to sew right on. If she can find only collars, she could easily cut a pattern from a ripped-off cuff and make new ones.—CATHERINE

DEAR POLLY and Mrs. H. B.—For years I have made sleeping garments for my daughters out of their father's "good" dress shirts that were worn around the collars and cuffs. Cut the collar off entirely and stitch double-fold bias tape up the front opening and around the collar edge. Either cut the sleeves off or shorten them to the desired length. The tape around the necks makes a real cute mandarin collar that the girls love. Variations can be sleeveless for summer and the leftover bias tape, lace or other trimming can be put on the sleeves. I have found this a good use for an otherwise useless shirt.-KAY

DEAR POLLY—Do thank Mrs. H. B. for her question as to what to do with shirts when the collars and cuffs are worn out. This brought back memories of the depression years when my children were small and we really had to be careful of expenses. The tails of shirts make nice little girls' slips, dress panties, sunbonnets, playsuits, new collars and cuffs to freshen mom's old dress, carefully hemmed handkerchiefs for daddy and the boys and slips for the baby's pillow. Add a bit of embroidery or a scrap of lace to such things to make them look pretty.

Then there were the flour and feed sacks and it was comparatively easy to bleach any printing out of this cotton. A five-pound sugar sack made a pair of training panties, and flour sacks were used for blouses, curtains, large pillowcases and luncheon cloths. A 100-pound feed sack was treasured. Some were white and some colored, with designsone such sack made a blouse, apron or boy's shirt; two made sister a dress; three made a dress for mama. Today's shirts could be made into so many things.—A DE-PRESSION MOTHER

Mayors Sing Same Woeful Song

DENVER (AP) - Whatever their political affiliation, no matter where they come from. most American mayors of large cities recite a similar litany of woes: unemployment, a growing narcotics problem, race relations and not enough money to better the quality of life in their communities.

The only differences a listener hears while attending the U.S. Conference of Mayors meeting here are opinions on how best to solve their problems.

For instance. 10 mayors were asked the following question: What is the most serious problem facing your city today and how can it best be solved?

Here are their answers:

Carl B. Stokes of Cleveland (Democrat): "Unemployment. Obviously I'd like to see a healthy economy which would be able to absorb people in a natural way in finding jobs. In the absence of this being done. I feel there is a responsibility on the government to furnish jobs. There have to be massive public works programs at this time."

Richard C. Lugar of Indianapolis (Republican): "Maintenance of full employment is our basic problem-more so now when the problem is national in scope. If we can reach full employment we will have mobility. people able to afford private housing, and less need for pub-lic support. To the extent we do not have full employment. we will have many more problems.

Our prime solution is to seek new industry for Indianapolis. We have had help from federal programs. but realistically. there could come a day when we're not so politically favored in Washington and we better have the ability to maintain it on our own.

Wesley Uhlman of Seattle (Democrat): "Our single biggest problem is unemployment. without question. Our economy revolves around the Boeing Company and its employment has gone down from 102.000 last year to 42.000 they tell us by the end of this year.

"It is absolutely necessary to constructively criticize the (Nixon) administration-hopefully into changing the policy that in order to control inflation we have to have some unemployment. I don't agree that it's a healthy thing to have 5 million people unemployed.

John V. Lindsay of New York: Right now the problem most pressing on us is narcotics. It's immediate. it's big. it's largely unsolved. We're experimenting but it's a very complicated and very big headache for us-and a very dangerous thing, too.

'A solution has to be both in law enforcement and in rehabilitation

Lindsay, a registered Republican, ran and won on the Liberal party ticket.

Sam Massell of Atlanta (Democrat): "We have two big problems: money and human relations. equally. With enough money I could solve or improve all our troubles except those in human rights. The human rights problem is a little different today from the civil rights problems of yesterday. It extends to the hippies and the campus.

"I don't think we have said enough to the state government about financing. That's where we should go for money. The other problem has to be solved by generating compassion, and understanding and a firm protection of rights.

Peter Flaherty of Pittsburgh (Democrat): "The most pressing problem is financial survival of city government. If the city government is unable to survive and goes bankrupt, then the great problems of social and physical and cultural goals decline with it."

Henry Maier of Milwaukee (Democrat): "The biggest single problem in our city is a lack of resources similar to that in any 'have-not' country. We are the 'have-nots.' The property tax is our main source of revenue and it's stretched to functions it was never designed for. It was set up for fire, sewer and garbage. In Milwaukee now, our property tax supports about $31 million in antipoverty-type pro-

We've got to continue to fight the states-particularly the 'have' areas sitting high on the hog-for a proper allocation of resources. And of course we should continue to try to get national priorities realigned as

Frank Curran of San Diego (Democrat): "No money. For the first time in the history of San Diego we hit the tax limitation this year and had to trim $1.5 million from our budget. Thus we face a series of problems all related to money ... increased demand for services. parks. recreations. police and there is no additional flexibility in the tax base.

The only practical answer to our dilemma is direct grants from the federal government without going through the state.

George Seibels. Jr., of Birmingham. Ala. (Republican): "The inability to expand our city with orderly growth is our biggest problem. We are hemmed in by other cities of 2.000 to 14.000 people who don't want to join us by merger. The thing we need now more than ever is ability to annex unincorporated land.

Gene Martin of Topeka. Kan. (Republican): "In Topeka. we don't have the problems that I find prevalent throughout the country. For instance, we've reduced our property tax levy for the last three years running. Our biggest problem is apathy of the people—no knowledge of public issues. elected officials or what they've done.

Teenager Reads Driver's Manual

Dear Ann Landers: Our 14year-old son is driving me nuts. In this state, a driver can get a learner's permit at 15. Jim won't be 15 until October. He sits in the driveway by the hour—backing up and going forward. Then he drives in the garage and out of the garage. Over the weekend he used a half a tank of gas and didn't go anyplace. Jim reads everything on car safety he can lay his hands on. He has memorized the material he needs to know in order to get his license.

I wish he paid as much attention to his school work. The boy eats. sleeps and dreams cars. Is this normal? His older brothers were not like this. Any suggestions?—Sheboygan

Dear She: A 14-year-old boy could be reading worse things than the driver's manual. Don't worry. This, too, shall pass. He sounds O.K. to me.

Dear Ann Landers: Father died and left Mom with eight children. I had to learn to sew buying ready-made things. sewed better than my three sisters so, of course. I sewed for everybody. There were times when I wanted to go someplace. but I had to stay home and sew. My sisters never missed a party or a ball game. I missed a good many social events. but I didn't mind because I knew the sewing had to be done.

Now. it is 40 years later and I don't want to sew anymore. But my family has other ideas. We were invited to spend two weeks with my sister. When I arrived she handed me material for draperies, a bedspread with dust ruffles, and three dresses. I bottles. I helped her put the was speechless. I told my husband I thought she had a lot of nerve. He yelled at me-said I should be proud of my talent—and insisted that I smile and keep my mouth shut. I spent the whole two weeks sewing. When we left for home my husband had a beautiful tan. I was white as a lily. My sister said. "I'm so glad you spent your vacation with us!" I said. 'WHAT vacation? I haven't worked so hard in years." My husband criticized me for being ungracious-said there must be something wrong with my head to talk that way. I'd like your opinion.—Sewed Up

Dear Sewed: There's something wrong with your head all right. You should have told your sister that you didn't care to spend your vacation sewing and to hire a seamstress. If you let this happen again, you deserve it, Lady.

Dear Ann Landers: How can I help a friend who takes because it was cheaper than too many pills and lies about it she's afraid to take an aspirin for a headache.

We were at a party the other night and her purse fell open. Out tumbled six or seven small pills back in the bottles. I suddenly understood why she slurs her words and staggers around complaining about "inner-ear trouble." When we play bridge. her hands shake so badly she can't hold a glass of water. Yesterday she appeared to be near the breaking point. Should I keep quiet or try to help?-Garden Grove, Calif.

Dear G. G.: By all means say something. Tell your friend she must let her doctor know precisely how much medication she is taking. Some people don't realize that mixing pills can be dangerous and pills mixed with liquor can be fatal.

Living Cost Rise Is Worst In Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose in May by fourtenths of one per cent, which a government official called a slackening in the nation's worst inflation in 20 years but a labor economist said was "more of

Assistant Commissioner Joel Popkin of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said price hikes the past four months represented a significant slowing from the three months before that.

But the AFL-CIO's chief economist. Nathaniel Goldfinger, don't see any clear evidence whatsoever of a slowing down in the rate of inflation," still running at an annual rate of 6 per cent this year on top of the 6.1 per cent climb in 1969.

The May rise in prices for food, clothing, housing, transportation, medical care and recreation pushed the govern-ment's Consumer Price Index up to 134.6.

The figure means that every $10 worth of typical family goods and services in 1957-59, said in behalf of the 13.6 million the base period for the index, member labor federation, "We cost $13.46 last month."

President Asks For Welfare Overhaul

dent Nixon asked Congress Thursday to overhaul and consolidate federal welfare services and add new aid for child foster care and adoption.

Under the plan, federal spending for social services would be increased by $255 million a year, from the present $555 million to $810 million.

The reform proposal is designed as a corollary to Nixon's previous request to substitute a family assistance plan for the existing major welfare programs.

"Our difficulty is that the half-billion dollar federal program of social services is failing its clients," said Robert H. Finch, outgoing secretary of welfare.

"Services for the poor have been too fragmented, inflexible, lacking in accountability, and contain serious gaps-particularly in programs to provide decent homes for displaced chil-

The plan would consolidate lion three years ago.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Presi- the 260 federal project and formula grant programs for services; place more administrative responsibility with the state; and free the nation's 85,000 social workers from counseling and eligibility investigations.

States would be required to frame and meet specific performance goals. But those who consolidate and streamline the administration of federally aided services would be allowed to transfer up to 20 per cent of the funds from one categorical aid program to another..
The 32 states with social service programs considered substandard by the government now would be provided $200 million over four years to bring them up to the nation norm.

The plan would also replace the existing, open ended 75-25 federal matching formula for services. Instead, states would receive fixed allocations to halt the drain on the federal treasury that has almost doubled the federal share from the $275 mil-

Grant ABM Funds At Whiteman AFB

(Democrat-Capital Service)

WHITEMAN AFB - The Senate Armed Services Committee has voted funds for a Safeguard installation in the Whiteman Air Force Base area, while cutting funds for four other proposed Safeguard installations in an effort to outflank critics who want the entire Safeguard program cut more drastically.

The committee approved Wednesday the Nixon administration's request for $178 million to begin Safeguard site procurement for Whiteman Air Force Base, and $95.2 million to begin construction on the base.

Safeguard plans in this area include a missile radar installation at Whiteman, with at least two remote launch sites. located about 25 miles from the base. The Pentagon said earlier that the locations of the remote sites are not definite yet.

While approving the Whiteman funds, the Armed Services Committee voted to drop four proposed "area defense" Safeguard sites in the Northeastern and Northwestern United States, the Michigan-Ohio area and near Washington,

The paring down of the Safeguard proposal was seen as an effort to defuse strong Senate opposition to the entire Safeguard program. In 1969 the Senate came within one vote of killing the entire Safeguard

The four area defense bases were described by administration officials as essential to a plan designed to defend against an attack by Red

Sen. John Stennis, committee chairman, said he thought the pared-down Safeguard plan would make full Senate approval easier.

Grocery prices climbed again after remaining level in April. The four-tenths May rise and April's six-tenths hike in living costs were both figured by the bureau as increases of fivetenths of one per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis, the same as the average for the past four months.

"The rate has come down from the six-tenths rate of November, December and January. It has come down to a fivetenths monthly change, which is significant," Popkin said.

But Goldfinger noted the fivetenths average still amounts to an annual rate of 6 per cent, higher than the 5.4 per cent average for 1969 when the worst of the price spiral began. While averaging out 1969 price increases gave a 5.4 per cent figure, the price index wound up 6.1 per cent higher on a December-to-December basis.

The Nixon administration has been insisting its policies governing interest rates, money supply and federal budget cuts would soon bring down the rate of inflation, but the labor federation has charged they are boosting unemployment to the highest level in five years without making a dent in price in-

Claim Sukarno Is Near Death, Asks For Visit

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) -A last wish by former President Sukarno, reported near death Thursday night, for a visit by his third, Japanese-born wife and their infant daughter he has never seen, is being granted by Indonesian authorities.

But Ratna Sari Dewi, 29year-old former Tokyo night club hostess given divorce last January, probably could not arrive at his hospital bedside in Jakarta from her home in Paris

One of the physicians assigned by President Suharto to treat the 69-year old critically ill founder and first president of the republic said Sukarno is dying and his survival chances were 25-75 against him.

Brig. Gen. Ali Murtopo, chief of special operations of Indonesian intelligence, said Sukarno called several times for Dewi and her daughter, Kartika Sari, who was born abroad.

The beautiful former Indonesian First Lady has been banned from living in Indonesia. She left Indonesia before Sukarno's downfall.

Other members of Sukarno's family have been keeping 'round-the-clock vigil at his bedside since he was taken to the hospital Tuesday night apparently after a heart attack. Tight security was imposed at the hospital. Sukarno has suffered from kidney stones, high blood pressure and a circulatory ailment for several years.

The former playboy of the Eastern world was president from his proclamation of his country's independence from the Dutch in 1945 until his overthrow by a military group led by Suharto in 1966.

Since then Sukarno has lived under house arrest in an isolated mansion on the outskirts of

Treasurer Says He Will Crack Down

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) -

More than a dozen Missouri banks are not conforming to the rule that they transmit state fee and tax deposits at least twice a month and State Treasurer William E. Robinson said Thursday he is going to crack down. Generally, there are about 180 banks in the state that receive deposits from State Revenue Department fee offices. The rule is that they must transfer the deposits to the state treasury twice a month.

National Bank in Kansas City, made only three transmittals in the first five months of 1970. That bank had more than $800,-000 in cigarette tax revenues on deposit as of May 30.

Reservoir Work Is Going Ahead

(Democrat-Capital Service) WARSAW - Funds approved by the House Appropriations Committee Thursday for water and construction projects by the Army Corps of Engineers would include work on two bridges and the relocation of a road at the Harry S. Truman Reservoir.

State Sen. John Ryan told The Democrat Thursday that one of the bridges, a 5,000-foot span over the proposed lake, would be the longest bridge in Missouri.

Ryan said the bid for that bridge was $6,005,727.50, and had been let recently to the List and Clark Construction Co., Overland Park, Kan.

Other bids let were for a bridge and 2.3 miles of dirt and culvert work on a road near the Grand River, totaling $2,675,000. It went to the Holten-Anderson Construction Co. The bridge over the Grand River would be about 2,150 feet long, Ryan said.

The House Appropriations Committee approved $13 million Thursday for the reservoir project, only million less than requested recently by a 60-member delegation from Missouri.

Kennie Miller, local realtor, Sen. Ryan and Fred Davis, president of State Fair Community College, met with the House Appropriations Committee May 11 and with the Senate committee May 12. They asked that $17 million be allotted. They represented the Sedalia portion of the delegation.

Miller said the $13 million approved by the committee Thursday was only for this year's construction program.

A $49,890,540 bid for the dam itself was rejected recently because it was $16 million over the original estimates, Ryan

Ryan reported that Howard Construction Co., which recently opened a new plant in Warsaw, would provide the concrete for the bridges. The Harry S. Truman reservoir was formerly known as the Kaysinger Bluff Reservoir.

Airport's Wings Clipped

Almost 20 months after Sedalians passed a $790,000 bond issue for the improvement of the Municipal Airport, it is becoming increasingly clear that the improvement — if indeed it ever comes will not be along the lines local citizens were led to believe.

Recent statements by Sedalia Airport Board members indicate that the city is no longer thinking in terms of an airport to accommodate air carrier service, but instead a "general aviation"-oriented expansion. In short, the accent has shifted from an airport designed to serve the public to one geared primarily to the needs of private aviation.

This would appear to be a fundamental change of direction from the original plan. While a radically scaled-down version of an improved airport may be the best Sedalia can hope for at this time, the sky was the limit when the bonds were passed.

At the time of the promotion on behalf of the airport expansion, back in the distant summer of 1968, in rebuttal to the charge that an improved airport would serve only private aircraft, it was stressed that an adequate airport would really serve the entire city. This was mainly by virtue of Ozark Airlines providing the city with passenger, freight and direct air mail

The steering committee for the airport bonds even went so far as to run advertisements showing an Ozark Airlines jetprop, which would presumably be Sedalia's if only the bond issue were passed. Several city and airport officials were quoted to the effect that Ozark was waiting in the wings to serve Sedalia once the airport was improved.

It has since become evident that neither Ozark Airlines nor the Civil Aeronautics Board agrees with this viewpoint. The former has exhibited notable apathy at the prospect of serving Sedalia, and 'the latter has termed the whole prospect one with "limited chance of success and limited public benefits."

If the type airport currently envisioned by the Airport Board is a bird of a different feather than the one Sedalians voted for in 1968, then the voters deserve to be fully informed as to what their money will be used for, in contrast to the purposes for which it was originally intended.

An important step in this direction would be the scheduling of meetings of the Sedalia Airport Board on a regular, pre-announced basis, with its proceedings fully open to news media coverage for the edification of Sedalia's taxpayers.

Invasion Plot a Slapstick Comedy

WASHINGTON - The zany details of CBS's abortive attempt to film an invasion of Haiti all the way through to the anticipated "assassination," of Papa Doc Duvalier, the Haitian dictator, is described in a congressional report kept under lock

The invasion plot was a slapstick, Marx Brothers adventure, better suited for an episode of the spy spoof "Get Smart" than a CBS documentary. At one point, the conspirators, wearing a hidden CBS mike, tried to shake down Papa Doc for $200,000. They approached the Haigene Maximillian, and offered to call off the invasion for a satchel full of greenbacks. Six of the invasion leaders, ultimately, were convicted of violating U.S. laws. The House subcommittee which investigated the madcap 1966 affair, however, was disappointed that CBS escaped conviction.

Copies of the subcommittee's report were taken out of the locked files this week and submitted to the members for their comments and corrections. This column has obtained a bootleg copy. -CBS Scolded-

On almost every page, the report rebukes CBS, charging in summary:

"CBS funds were provided for the leasing of a 67foot schooner which was to be utilized by the invasion force; expenses were reimbursed for the transportation of weapons which were to be subsequently used by the conspirators; various payments were made to Rolando Masferrer, the leader of the invasion conspiracy, with full knowledge of his identity and criminal intentions. If these acts did not actually involve the network in they came dangerously close to doing so. "There were, undeniably, misadventures and other circumstances involving both the conspirators and the CBS News organization which. in retrospect, seem humorous and even ridiculous. This should not obscure the fact that hundreds of thousands of dollars and many hundreds of manhours were expended in the accumulation and assembly of a massive stockpile of illegal military paraphernalia for unlawful use against a government which, however reprehensible some may view its policies, is nevertheless at peace with the U.S. "A diplomatic representative of this same foreign power was subjected to an attempted extortion, an attempt which was facilitated by the use of hidden recording equipment supplied by CBS News personnel and used by an individual who was himself in the pay of CBS News." The report identifies one of the alleged shakedown artists as Ralph Serrano, alias Ralph Almonte, who has "a substantial criminal record and was recently deported to the Dominican Republic.'

CBS made payments to the plotters, including Serrano, in cash. The subcommittee estimates that the network's total outlay "in its unsuccessful attempt to document the overthrow of the Haitian government exceeded $200,000." This money, the

-- Chain of Invasions-

CBS, of course, has taken vigorous exception to the subcommittee's charges. In letters to Chairman Harley Staggers, D-W.Va., CBS officials have insisted that their reporters and cameramen sought merely to record a news event, not to influence it in any way. CBS funds did not finance the invasion attempt, declare the officials, but merely covered normal expenditures for a documentary.

The conspirators originally intended to invade Cuba and overthrow Dictator Fidel Castro. They decided this could be accomplished best from a base in Haiti. So, as a preliminary exercise, they chose to invade Haiti and overthrow Duvalier. Then they calculated it would be easier to conquer Haiti from a base in the Dominican Republic an considered beginning their counter-revolutionary activity with an invasion of the Dominican Republic. But they thought better of this and, instead, tried to negotiate with the Dominican Republic for the use of a base.

CBS gave $1,500 to a shadowy munitions dealer, named Mitchell Wer Bel III, to conduct these implausible negotiations. As it happened, the Dominican Republic turned down the deal and kicked Wer Bel's representative out of the country. By the time Wer Bel's secret testimony was taken, he looked back on the invasion plot as a lark.

-Grim Comedy-

"I took this whole project as entertaining comedy," he testified. "I felt that this was a very amateurish attempt at something which I didn't know really what was going on, and it was an interlude of entertainment as far as I was concerned. Even my nom de guerre was based on entertainment and levity. I was known as Eric Straff." He went along with the plotters, he said, because "I was carried away by the ham instinct in

He testified that CBS had also put up a $1,500 down payment to lease the "mother ship" for the invasion - a 67-foot skiff known as "Poor Richard" which got no further than the plotters' hideout at the luxurious Ocean Reef resort on Key Largo, Fla. The bills at Ocean Reef were also paid

"The boat never had anything on it except a few good, long drinking sessions," testified Wer Bel. It was seized by creditors, and the conspirators were obliged to change their strategy from a seaborne to an airborne invasion.

CBS finally got tired of paying the bills for this great nonadventure and, after taking 45,000 feet of film over an eight-month period, cancelled the project. William Leonard, vice president of CBS News, explained in an interoffice memo: "We see simply the nonadventure of a ragtag crew next to whom Duvalier himself looks good, a gang openly flouting U.S. law, in the end to no purpose.

Footnote: My friend, Walter Cronkite, scolded me from coast-to-coast recently for publishing a White House memo which accused CBS of faking horror scenes from Vietnam. He suggested that the White House had planted the memo with me in order to discredit CBS. I hope Walter won't now accuse the Democrats, who run the House subcommittee, of conspiring with the Republicans at the White House to discredit CBS.

Neither the White House memo nor the subcommittee report were planted with me. It took a good deal of digging to bring these confidential documents into the sunlight. Nor is my purpose to discredit CBS which, in my opinion, has the best news staff of all the networks. I simply believe that news-gathering organizations, my own included, should be as subject to public scrutiny as the government agencies they cover.

Cut the 'Take' and Slow Drug Traffic

By RAY CROMLEY Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)

No official this reporter has talked to has any hope for a quick end to the heroin trade in the United States. But one long-range approach holds promise.

It is based on the thesis that the underworld men in the heroin traffic, besides being criminals, are hard-headed businessmen—and that they will drop a product (heroin) if it doesn't pay off.

This approach involves a series of piecemeal attacks, year in and year out, aimed at making operations so costly for the worldwide complex of smugglers, "bankrollers," contact men and processors that they'll turn to other, more profitable lines.

Experts say they've seen this kind of shift in the past. The first step is to make heroin harder to get and therefore more costly where it's grown.

By agreement, Turkey (source of 80 per cent of U.S. heroin) is cutting back on the provinces in which opium may legally be produced. This won't reduce opium output. But it will make growing illegal in the border provinces. Policing could be more effective with legal production limited to a relatively small region in the center of the country. The U.S. government is also doing what it can to help

Ankara buy and store the opium crop immediately at harvest. The delay between harvesting and government purchase for medical use is an active period for smugglers.

On paper, these steps should make the job of the smuggler more difficult. But this may not work so well in prac-

It's not the money the Turkish farmer makes. Opium may account for but $50 out of an annual income of something more than $1,000. But it is a handy cash crop farmers can grow in the off-season. More importantly, opium growing and smuggling are old traditions, ones the farmers won't give up easily.

The U.S. Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs hopes to put a series of small but costly roadblocks at each step of the road from Turkey on through the chain of interlocking illegal organizations through which the opiummorphine-heroin moves to the U.S. addict.

The aim is to find the vulnerable points in the system and

This means looking at "the organization"—the skilled scientists who produce the heroin in the French laboratories, the couriers who carry the heroin from France to Canada, Brazil or the United States, the smuggler operating in Turkey, the Turkish farmer, the Mafia and other operations in the United States, the men who make the deals along the route and settle whatever arguments arise-and through this determine the weak points.

But first, of course, the U.S. agents must find and identify the organizations. That is not turning out to be easy. The U.S. government has little information on how the distribution systems operate, who the key men are in each country. They have bits and pieces of information. That Government agents point out that a good many of the men in opium smuggling, production and distribution also seem to be tied into other rackets and illegalities. One hope is that when a key man is found he may be arrested and convicted of something—anything to get him out of circulation for awhile.

". . . and they're potential Joe Namaths—this one's the quarterback, and this one's the actor!"

Prospect Dim for Wallace in '72

By BRUCE BIOSSAT NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON - From a slightly longer perspective, with new information still trickling in. George Wallace's very narrow squeak over Gov. Albert Brewer in Alabama looks more and more remarkably unique.

A friend of mine in the state stood in the voting line behind an old lady who had never before voted in her life. She intimated she was voting for Wallace, and that she knew several other lady firstvoters who were turning out because "their man" seemed in danger.

Wallace is estimated to have received about 75 per cent of the unusual 34,000 additional vote registered in the month between the May 5 primary, led by Brewer, and the June 2 runoff. Though the official vote will not be tallied for awhile, all present indications are that the June 2 total surpassed the first turnout. The conventional word was that a substantial fall-off could be expected. Critical to Brewer, furthermore, was his loss to Wallace on June 2 of 10 northern Alabama counties the incumbent governor had won the first time. Wallace, in his turn, gave up only one county to Brewer — a Black Belt county (Greene) the former governor had won May 5 because many black voters stayed home. Key to Brewer's slide in northern Alabama was the fact that many white blue-collar workers who originally voted for a third candidate, Dothan businessman Charles Woods, went for Wallace. Raging harder than ever is the argument where this leaves the 1968 third party presidential candidate in the national or even regional picture. A win by perhaps less than 51 per cent in a runoff is hardly a big smash for a man in his home state. As I noted in an earlier report, Wallace will be hard put to make good on his crucial promises to roll back school integration advances mainly directed by the courts rather than his prime target, President Nixon. In his campaign, he made a host of other promises, the net of which was he would offer Alabama citizens many more services while cutting their taxes. One weekly newspaper editor added up 40 promises he made that involve spending more

Evidently he is already hedging on the tax issue. He pledged himself to eliminate a 4 per cent sales levy on groceries. Lately he has been talking about holding this cut to "essential groceries," or maybe having it apply only for food-stamp (low income) customers. A full cut would deprive Alabama of some $43 million in revenue.

No one can be sure what Wallace will do on the racial scene, though the expectation is he will seek some sort of dramatic confrontation with the Nixon administration - possibly by reopening some closed all-black schools and ordering teachers to appear there.

Analysts disagree on the effect of any such moves, and on Wallace's general prospects for another presidential run in 1972. Some think he holds credibility with racial conservatives across the South just by trying, even if he loses the fights. Others believe his tight squeeze over Brewer is evidence he has already suffered severe loss of

One acute political specialist, not a southerner. thinks wallace's national heyday is over, that Nixon in 1972 will not only hold the five southern states he won in 1968 but take Texas from the Democrats as well. In Texas, Wallace's 19 per cent cost Nixon a big slug of electoral votes by a single point.

Says this specialist: "George was a phenomenon last time. He's going to have to come up with some very good cards to be a phenomenon again. I doubt that he can do it."

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Heed Doctor's Advice On Aspirin Dosage

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

If you have arthritis, aspirin is the best single remedy you can take unless you have a sensitivity to it or can't use it for some other reason. Before embarking on a course of self-treatment, however, you should have your doctor determine whether you really have arthritis and, if so, what type. He should also advise you about the dosage and about other elements in the total treatment.

Beside relieving pain, aspirin also reduces inflammation. This is especially important in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis. For this reason it is important for anyone with this type of arthritis to continue taking the prescribed dosage even after the pain subsides - otherwise the antiinflammatory effect is lost. Don't change your dosage without consulting your doctor.

Persons with arthritis can usually tolerate much larger doses of aspirin than a normal person and should take the dosage just below that which causes ringing of the ears. If you are the type who can take aspirin and find that it is helping you, you should consider buying plain aspirin in a bottle of 1,000 tablets as this will mean an appreciable

Q - What causes motion sickness? What is the remedy? I get it from merely bending over or getting up quickly from lying in bed.

A - True motion sickness occurs in persons whose equilibrium regulating apparatus (inner ear) is unduly sensitive. There are several effective remedies, such as meclizine (Bonine) and amphetamine (Fetamin), but dizziness induced by sudden changes in posture is not true motion sickness. This type of dizziness can usually be avoided by making these changes in position slowly. For extreme dizziness the aforementioned drugs are often helpful.

POLLY'S POINTERS Uses Ice Cube Tray To Hold Her Earrings By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY-As pierced ears have been the "in" thing for the past several years, my earrings filled three "trees" on my dressing table. They were cluttered-looking and getting dusty, so I bought a miniature ice cube tray. This fits nicely in a drawer and has cubicles for 90 pairs of earrings. An old pair of tweezers is kept nearby for getting them out of their neat compartments. Now my earrings are clean, easy to see and out of the way.—SHARON

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—Panty hose in the size that fits me in the feet, legs and thighs are about 1½ to two inches too tight through the waist. I have tried snipping the elastic at intervals but this does not work. I would really appreciate knowing what I could do to make them more comfortable.—I. P.

DEAR POLLY-I always have a cup of warm milk before going to bed and the milk always sticks to the little pan in which I heat it. A quick scrub with a piece of that old reliable nylon net cleans it up in a jiffy. This net also works well for cleaning a pan in which cream sauce is cooked.—MRS. D. K.

DEAR POLLY-I would like to tell Donna, whose husband's swivel chair has "sticky" arms, that the only way I could get rid of this condition was to put masking tape around the upholstered edges for protection as I used paint remover and then refinished the arms. Be very careful not to spill any of the remover on the upholstery fabric. I took my chair outdoors to protect the floor and carpet. I used paste wax on the arms after they were refinished and now they never get sticky.—MRS. J. B. P.

DEAR DONNA—There is a chance that such stickiness could be due to a build-up of wax or furniture polish. I would certainly remove either of these and then see what a coat of brown paste wax or even scratch remover polish (if you use polish) would do before starting in on a complete refinishing job. Worth a try, even though refinishing is necessary in the end.—POLLY

Hobsons Introduces the "SELECT DOZEN"

Out of 4,000 different types of carpeting manufactured in the United States today, Hobsons have chosen 12 outstanding values. Thru their extensive search and hard bargaining they can now offer the ultimate in quality, style, and easy care at the most reasonable prices. Even if price means nothing to you, you should see these 12 carpets, they are more outstanding than many that cost much more. See the "Select Dozen" before you buy, priced from $6.39 to $13.88 sq. yd. including installation and padding.
